

Abstract

The concept of impact attenuation by the absorption of impact forces while maintaining the integrity of the passenger compartment with a ring of safety built around the car is projected from proven engineering experience and is only a new application of known principles. It can be made to work in acceptable designs, and above all, it will save lives and prevent injuries.